

Dr. Patricia Duncan has served in a nursing career for over 30 years and her experience and knowledge have afforded her many jobs in different areas and capacities. She has also devoted a lot of time in working with the elderly both inside and outside of the work setting. She is presently employed at Dwight D. Eisenhower Medical Facility as a nurse practitioner. Her passion is working with the at-risk and under served population in various capacities. She is married and enjoys nature walks, sports, gardening and painting.